NAZI ESCAPE HIGHWAY CUT BY 5TH ARMY

Allies Take Velletri, Now Two Miles Behind Spearhead in Sight of Rome.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

NAPLES, June 2—The Fifth army has captured Velletri and occupied Valmontone.

The Eighth army occupied Ferentino.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, June 2—Fifth army troops have cut the Via Casilina, sealing off a main German escape route, and broken into Velletri—already left two miles behind by an American spearhead battling on the heights in sight of Rome.

Plunging across the Via Casilina highway six—near Valmontone the Allies slashed the main road for Nazis falling back from the main front to the southeast.

British forces pounding up the highway were nearing Ferentino, only 18 miles from Valmontone, and French troops swung toward the highway from the west in this sector. A few lateral roads branch off from the Via Casilina to highways farther east.

U. S. infantrymen entered Velletri late yesterday after other Americans virtually had encircled this key German fortress, on the Appian Way 16 miles from Rome. At noon today "fierce fighting is in progress" in the streets, headquarters announced.

Two miles to the northwest, Yankee troops fighting on Monte Artemisio, in view of Rome's historic buildings, were meeting "very obstinate opposition," a communique said.

This force had snaked beyond Velletri and seized the dominating heights of Mts. Peschio and Artemisio, catching the Germans by surprise.

(The German high command declared the dent the Allies achieved northeast of Velletri had been "sealed off" with heavy casualties inflicted. Berlin's broadcast said there was fighting of "very great fierceness" Thursday, especially in the Velletri and Valmontone areas, but that the Allies had been held.)

The smashing blows against the Nazi line guarding Rome also drove in another wedge by capture of Lariano, a village on the highway to Valmontone, four miles northeast of Velletri.

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring had flung his touted Hermann Goering armored division into the line near Valmontone in a bitter struggle to hold open the via Casilina.

The British and French to the southeast squeezed tighter on the highway, and the French seized Ponte Di Morolo, three miles below the famous road, west of Frosinone.

Along the coastal flank of the battle for Rome, naval guns again supported the British push, bombarding enemy batteries near Ardea with successful results.

The first United States troops struck into Velletri at 5:15 p. m. yesterday and on their march into the town square captured 19 prisoners, Associated Press War Correspondent Daniel De Luce reported from the front.

(Even two days ago German broadcasts hinted Velletri had been abandoned, but De Luce's dispatch indicated the Americans still were meeting resistance and had not yet fully occupied the town. His dispatch was filed at 8:45 p. m. yesterday, Italian time.)

The Germans apparently still clung firmly to the other three major strongholds on their Rome line—Valmontone, astride highway 6 to the northeast, and Lanuvio and Campoleone, toward the coast.

The daily communique said Eighth army troops, advancing astride the Via Casilina toward Valmontone, "have pressed enemy rearguards so severely" in one sector "that enemy demolitions could not be effected." Advance Eighth army elements drove six miles beyond Frosinone to a

Stewart's Nomination Conceded by Herbert

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 2—Thomas J. Herbert gave up today.

The attorney general conceded the nomination for Republican governor to Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati and called off all requests for recounts in the May 9 primary.

He sent a message of congratulation to the mayor who defeated him by only 2,372 votes—the tightest major race in the history of Ohio—and said he would give his support to the ticket in November.

Herbert withdrew his requsets for recounts of some 200 precincts in Cuyahoga county and 65 in Franklin county. A recount of all 777 precincts in Hamilton county stopped Wednesday with less than half of them retabulated.

West Wall Hit Heavy Blow By 750 Bombers

Several Hundred Fighters Accompany Big U. S. Craft on Raids on Channel Fortifications.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, JUNE 2,—The United States air force today made the heaviest single blow yet against the German west wall installations on the French coast, hurling upwards of 750 Fortresses and Liberators and several hundred fighters against the Pas-De-Calais department.

Before dawn, allied fliers sliced over 2,000 miles of airways from Scandinavia to France and from Hungary to Crete.

The Pas-De-Calais section probably the most intensively bombed area in the world for its size, is a scant 25 miles across the channel from England where Gen. Eisenhower's invasion armies are massed and eager. The department extends 90 miles into French interior and along 25 miles to the coast and contains such familiar points as Calais, the World war I debarkation port of Boulogne; the resort Le Touquet and Cape Gris Nez, terminal for channel swims.

RAF heavy bombers concentrated on southwest French rail yards at Saumur, 150 miles from Paris, and the French coast last night. Mediterranean forces attacked Hungarian yards 30 miles east of Budapest at Szolnok. Mosquitos bombed a target in Denmark and the Germans reported an air attack which damaged a convoy off the west Norwegian coast. Middle east bombers attacked ports on the big Greek island of Crete. Enemy waters were mined.

Blasts Heard in England

The silvery daylight bombers left converging trails of vapor over the 20-mile channel and shortly afterward a rumble of explosions echoed back to England. More formations went out around noon, including a big force of fighters which circled around Boulogne.

A Cairo communique said an important German convoy was attacked in the central Aegean sea north of Crete yesterday and that four ships were left burning and others were damaged. Two destroyers among the eight escort vessels were declared damaged. Ten aircraft were lost in the attacks yesterday and during the last two weeks.

The daylight raiders carried the allies' second big pre-invasion aerial offensive since the first of April into its fifteenth day. Glittering in the sunlight the attacking force headed toward the much-battered stretch of French coast between Dieppe and Boulogne.

All morning the German radio reported the reich was free of planes but at noon the Luxembourg transmitter gave the warning that often precedes attacks on occupied territory.

The attack on the Saumur rail yards was made by RAF heavy bombers. The air ministry said night raiders also struck a military objective near the French coast but did not indicate its nature. Mosquitos simultaneously bombed an unspecified objective in Denmark and mines were laid in enemy waters. All the planes re-

HOSPITAL TO BENEFIT IN RACE TICKET SALE

Woman's Board Sponsors Sale To Buy Equipment.

Proceeds realized by the Woman's Board of the Marion City Hospital in its sale of tickets for the Little Grand circuit races starting here next Thursday will be used to help in purchasing needed equipment and surgical supplies for the pediatric department of the Marion City hospital, it was decided at a meeting of the executive board, yesterday at Hotel Harding.

This year, as in former ones, the Women's Board is sponsoring the sale of season tickets for the Little Grand Circuit Races, and in this way the members have purchased many pieces of equipment and otherwise materially assisted the hospital. At the meeting yesterday it was agreed by the members to center their interest on the children's department at the hospital and with this as their objective are making every effort to raise a sizeable sum for this particular project.

Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, newly-elected president of the board, has asked Miss Geraldine Hord to serve as ticket chairman. Tickets are available from any member of the board and also may be purchased at Markert & Lewis' and at Hotel Harding. At either place the board will be credited with the sale.

RECREATION PLANS LISTED

City Commission To Provide Supervision at Parks and 5 School Grounds.

Plans for the summer have been announced by the Marion Recreation commission. Again this year paid supervisors will be stationed at two parks and five school playgrounds to plan recreational activities for Marion young people. The program will open June 12 and continue through Sept. 1, running from 1 to 5:30 p. m. and 6:30 to 8 p. m. daily excepting Sundays.

Supervisors will be located at Lincoln and McKinley parks, Glenwood, Silver Street, Mark Street, Forest Lawn and Oakland schools. In addition to these playgrounds one will be operated by the Salvation Army at the rear of the Citadel on North Prospect street. The supervisor will be chosen by the Salvation Army and will be paid by the recreation commission, which derives its support from the Marion Community foundation. Paid supervisors will be Mrs. Martha Vermillion, Mrs. Lucille Pessell, Misses Ruth Norton, Pauline Stannard and Dorothy Johnson, Russell Dunlap and Robert McCracken. Supervisors are chosen by Joseph Petrich, supervisor of playgrounds.

Flexibility Provided

The program planned for this year is designed for flexibility and can be adapted to several situations which may arise at various playgrounds. The final nature of activities will depend upon the number and ages of those taking advantage of the program. Recreation provided by the supervised playgrounds will offer safe play to large numbers of children. It is designed to take care of children whose parents work through the

MUNITIONS TRAIN BLOWS UP

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 2—An ammunition train exploded today in an East Anglia market town, lifting roofs from adjacent houses, turning the railroad station into a shambles, and injuring a number of persons. The fireman of the train was killed. The train, station and nearby buildings caught fire, but whether any additional fatalities occurred was not immediately known. The blast was felt 20 miles away.

POISON GAS FROM TANK, TIPPED OFF TRUCK, OVERCOMES MANY. Several hundred persons were overcome by poisonous chlorine gas in downtown Brooklyn, N. Y., when a 240-cubic foot tank toppled from a truck on a busy corner and spread its highly irritating contents over an area 10 blocks square. Men, women and children dropped to the street as the fumes burst out of the tank, one of 20 being hauled into town. Victims were rushed to hospitals. In the photo above a young girl victim lies on the lap of a friend as other victims begin to recover from their near fatal ordeal. (International Soundphoto)

Bricker Charges CIO Uses Funds To Corrupt Election

Ohioan Declares Union's Committee Also Maps Campaign of Intimidation To Win Roosevelt Votes.

By The Associated Press

TRENTON, N. J., JUNE 2—Gov. Bricker of Ohio demanded last night congressional action on what he termed "subversive use of money to corrupt the approaching election" by the CIO political action committee.

The Republican aspirant for the presidential nomination asserted it was "no secret" that the CIO committee, which is campaigning for the reelection of President Roosevelt, "uses not only money but intimidation to get votes."

"I say to you," Bricker declared in a talk which wound up a one-day campaign in New Jersey's capital city, "that when the CIO political action committee attempts, as it is now doing, to dominate the Democratic party and to influence elections by its unholy alliances, it is stepping outside its legitimate field of action.

"It is time that the American people became aware of what is going on and see that it is stopped short in its traces. I call upon congress to act at once to stop the subversive use of money to corrupt the approaching election by the CIO political action committee.

"When has it become the legitimate function of a labor organization to so interfere in elections that it can make a minority supreme over the majority of the people? If any political party—yes, if any governmental agency—were to interfere in union elections to deprive union members of their exclusive right to determine union policies, there would be ground for legitimate complaint and righteous indignation.

No Right To Coerce

"Labor has the right to discuss issues to participate in government and to vote in elections as any other group of citizens—but it has no greater right. The whole people of this country vote for President and elect congressmen. No one individual or group has the right, by any sort of threat or intimidation, or through the power of the purse, to thwart the will of the entire people.

"In fact, I am sure that the great majority of laboring people, union members and union leaders alike, believe as I do. I think they likewise resent the intrusion of Mr. (Sidney) Hillman's political action committee into their private business of casting a free and uninfluenced vote. * * * they know, as I know, that any impairment of that right by a radical labor element will, in the end, defeat the honorable and legitimate aims of organized labor in this country."

Without mentioning any names Bricker said "one of the most serious indictments of the New Deal is the charge that it has thwarted free voting in this country," and he added:

"It has used political patronage, governmental benefits, and political favors and privileges to

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 2—Approximately 150 of an estimated 1,000 persons felled by escaping chlorine gas in Brooklyn yesterday still were under treatment in hospitals today as authorities began an investigation of the accident.

No fatalities were reported from the fumes which seeped from a 220-pound steel cylinder on a delivery truck and billowed out over a radius of half a dozen blocks in a busy downtown section.

More than 350 men, women and children were taken to seven hospitals. Most of them were allowed to go home after treatment.

Scores of others were treated at makeshift first aid stations set up in stores, gasoline stations and nearby homes.

As the fumes spread, people toppled to the ground like flies, eyewitnesses said, while others were sent into violent spells of choking, coughing and vomiting.

Many of the victims were subway passengers, affected when

JOB OFFICES GET CONTROL OF ALL HIRING

McNutt Orders Sweeping Program To Conserve Supply of Labor.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 2—Sweeping new controls over the nation's dwindling supply of male workers were ordered today by the war manpower commission to be placed in effect by July 1.

They provide that virtually every job-seeking man in America will be required to apply to the United States Employment Service for assignment to the war plant where he is most needed, regardless of where that plant may be located. Employers, on the other hand, will be permitted to hire only those men referred to them by the USES.

"The successful conduct of the war now requires the channeling of all available male labor in the nation to jobs of greatest war production urgency, and the retention of such labor in those jobs," War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt declared in announcing the new program.

On Nationwide Basis

It extends on a nationwide basis the WMC's voluntary program already in effect in about a dozen areas of critical labor shortage.

"We propose," McNutt declared, to accomplish the channeling "by a system of priority referral, effective throughout the nation, but varying among communities by such adaptations as may be found desirable."

Farm workers are not restricted, nor are businesses with eight or less employes.

McNutt said the program would make it possible for a worker anywhere in the country to "take his most useful place on the industrial firing line," adding:

"This is just as important as it is for us to get our soldiers onto the firing line when and where they are needed."

He said one of the principal difficulties in recruiting men for war jobs and retaining them is "over-optimism with respect to an early ending of the war"—this causing workers to look for peacetime employment.

Disturbed by Attitude

"I have been most disturbed by this attitude," he said. "The war is not nearly over and such sentiment is positively dangerous to the war effort."

Production needs and manpower demands may be easing up in specific plants or areas due to cutbacks but "workers who may be released in such situations are sorely needed in other plants or other areas where war production schedules are being increased. Experience in the past has shown that this easing of manpower does not result in the filling of all labor demands in critical war industries."

While some sources saw the expanded program as a move necessary because of the lack of national service legislation, McNutt said it had "no relation to any legislation." The WMC national management-labor policy committee has reaffirmed its conviction, he added, that the nation's manpower needs can best be met under programs voluntarily developed and adopted.

He explained that while the program is on a voluntary basis, sanctions can be imposed in cases of non-compliance. He said workers who refuse to cooperate would find it difficult without a clearance slip to get a job, while employers who do not participate will not have workers referred to them.

Industries most in need of "strong male labor" at present, McNutt asserted, are foundries and forge shops, rubber and tire

PEACE SOON IS POPE'S HOPE

Calls for Mercy for Vanquished and Hopes Rome Will Escape Damage.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 2—Pope Pius XII, in a speech to the College of Cardinals, expressed hope today that peace soon would appear on Rome's hills and over the whole world but added that a demand for total victory might prolong the war.

In an Italian language broadcast the pontiff called on the victors to give hope and faith to the vanquished, and declared that "whoever would dare lift a hand against Rome would be guilty of matricide."

Speaking as contending armies surged within sight of Rome, Pope Pius said that anyone lifting a hand against the Eternal City would "have to bear a grave responsibility toward future generations."

The pontiff said many persons fear the theory of "full victory or complete destruction" and that this "operates with a bad influence as a stimulus prolonging the war and also on those, who following their internal impulse or for realistic considerations, would be inclined to a reasonable peace."

A fear of the enemy's determination "to destroy national life down to the roots suffocates all other arguments and brings about * * * a courage of desperation," he said.

"Those who feel this," the Pope continued, "advance as in a hypnotic sleep amid unspeakable sacrifices and compel all others to an extenuating and bloody struggle, the social, economic and spiritual consequences of which threaten to become the scourge of future times."

He said Rome was receiving "more considerate treatment" from air raiders.

"We cherish the hope," the Pope continued, "that this more just and moderate tendency will prevail * * * and that the city will in all cases and at whatever cost be preserved from becoming a theater of war."

He warned, however, that "we do not hesitate to repeat once more with equal impartiality and dutiful firmness that whoever would dare lift a hand against Rome would be guilty of matricide before the present world and in front of the eternal judgment of God."

The Associated Press listening post in London reported the reception was excellent. The Pope's voice was described as being forceful, calm and clear. Listeners said the pontiff's "eloquence reached a peak of emphasis when he expressed the hope that Rome would be spared the horrors of war."

Quoting an historian of the 19th century, the Pontiff said Rome has good reasons before the world to be respected and left untouched.

Rome has known terrible days in its history, he continued—in the 16th century, in the 18th and on many other occasions.

"On all these occasions the Popes of the times succeeded in avoiding catastrophe and rescued and opened their doors to refugees of all creeds of all nationalities," he said.

"But what were the number of 6,000 or 7,000 refugees compared with the thousands of today?"

"To the last of our energies, and helped by so many good people, we intervened often," the Pope production, ship repair, logging and lumbering. Similar acute shortages, he added, are developing in such items as textile manufacturing, coal mining and electronic equipment.

Rules Set Up

To stiffen further the voluntary manpower system, McNutt directed that in the 184 group 1 and 2 areas of serious labor shortage there should be established

1. Employment ceiling programs fixing the total number of men who may be employed in specific establishments. These programs already exist in about 85 of the areas.

2. Manpower priority committees to decide which industries in their respective areas are entitled to worker priorities. About 35 areas have such committees.

The broadened program provides that USES offices will "recruit" applicants to jobs available in the order of their relative importance to the war effort.

"To the greatest degree consistent with the war effort, workers shall be given the maximum possible freedom of choice as to the jobs they accept," McNutt said. "Employers also shall be given the maximum possible freedom of choice as to the workers they employ."

Under the plan, a worker may be referred to other than an essential job only if he is not needed for an essential job in the area, if he is not adaptable to an essential job outside the area, or if there is "undue hardship, special emergency circumstances or other good cause."

McNutt stressed that every WMC area in the country will have considerable latitude in determining detailed application of the plan.

In order to "utilize all the help we can get," other agencies will be approved by the area USES offices for clearing and referring workers. These will include union hiring halls, colleges and universities and other normal employment channels.

While the WMC order instructs each regional manpower director to put the plan into effect by July 1, McNutt said it could be adopted earlier by any area wishing to do so.

Class Day Held by Seniors

Harding Graduates' Program at Park Pavilion Attended by 400 Parents and Friends.

Reviewing activities of their class through the nine years, the 1944 seniors of Harding High school held class day exercises yesterday at the pavilion in Gardner's park. The event scheduled to be held at the Harding stadium, was moved to the pavilion because of rain.

Approximately 400 parents and friends watched as the blue robed seniors entered to the music of "March of the Brave" by Zamecnik played by the Harding band under the direction of Homer Hoffman, instrumental music supervisor. After singing of the National Anthem, Marshall Zurk, a junior led the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

The graduates were led in singing the class song by Jacqueline Williams, author of the lyrics written to the tune of "In the Garden of Tomorrow."

Gives Class Address

Senior President Tom McGinnis delivered the class address. Recalling that the seniors are on the divide between two eras of their careers, he enumerated phases of school life which have given the graduates "good equipment and strong armor." A reminder that the class has already contributed to the war effort was given in mentioning of the five seniors who have entered the armed services. One of them, Bob Baer, serving in the Marines, was present at baccalaureate services held last Sunday.

In response to the challenge issued to the junior class, Elvin Beach, junior president, spoke on behalf of his class. The band played a selection after which Charles Elliott, one of the five valedictorians chosen at Harding this year, gave the class history, outlining outstanding achievements in scholarship, athletics, drama and music. "Cathedral Scene," by Mascagni was played by the brass sextet composed of Robert Boyd, George Whysall, Harry Wilhelm Jr., Milbourne Donaugh, Michael Phillips and Bill Burton.

LeRoy Swindler, chairman of the class prophecy committee, expressed his thanks to those who assisted in preparation of the program which was distributed to graduates after the ceremonies. Members of the committee were Eleanor Planck, Jeanne Stein, Jeanne Quackenbush, Jayne Young and Carl Willmeth. Miss Marjorie Eyring was faculty adviser to the group.

Class Prophecy

The prophecy, visualizing what Harding seniors will be doing 25 years from now, is in seven parts carrying out a radio-television theme. Drawings throughout the booklet were designed by Celesta Smith, a junior. Covers were printed in the Harding printing classes under the direction of R. A. Todd.

The band played "American Patrol" by Meanham, incorporating familiar patriotic themes. Harding's song, "Red and Black," was sung by graduates and the audience.

The band played "Democracy" grand march by Lake, as the seniors left the exercises.

Although the ceremony usually held in an outdoor setting, was carried on indoors, a colorful setting was provided by large bouquets of red and white peonies carrying out the class colors. American and school flags, and strips of bunting which decorated the stage. The red uniforms of the band provided contrast with the soft colored gowns of the graduates who were seated in the center section of the pavilion.

Insurance Canceled on Liquor Stores

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 2—The state of Ohio now will be the sole loser in the event of thefts from the state's 216 liquor stores.

State Liquor Director Don A. Fisher disclosed yesterday that cancellation by the National Surety company of theft insurance on stocks in the liquor stores had left the state without any financial protection in the event of burglaries.

He said the insurance was cancelled after theft losses for the last nine months totaled approximately $54,000.

The insurance, calling for a $60,000 premium payment for three years, was taken out last August. Fisher said the state has received a refund of approximately $43,000 to cover the unexpired part of the policy.

AIR RAIDS

turned safely from these operations.

In offensive sweeps into France and Germany yesterday evening RAF and RCAF fighters shot down three German planes while three planes in the attacking force were lost.

The latest blows on the continent were a continuation of an Allied aerial offensive which already was declared to have severely restricted certain German military movements behind the invasion front.

The night operation followed daylight assaults on military objectives in northern France yesterday by American Marauders escorted by Thunderbolts. Offensive patrols also were conducted by fighters of the British second tactical air force, and one German plane was shot down by long-range Mustangs off the German island of Borkum.

Since the all-out Allied campaign to disrupt communications in western Europe began early in March, American and British planes have carried out 246 attacks on 94 railroad targets, some in great strength.

In a statement last night reviewing the results of the Allies' "battle of communications," the British air ministry gave this picture of the enemy's transportation position:

1—Destruction of bridges has severely restricted military movements which involve the crossing of the Seine river within 100 miles of the coast.

2—Dislocation of the railroad system in occupied countries has driven the Germans to roads where additional bridges are out and in some places traffic jams extend for miles.

3—Earlier strategic bombings doubtless have wiped out many Nazi factories which the Germans need to produce motor vehicles.

4—In general the capacity of the enemy to repair blasted rail lines has been swamped. Heavy British assaults on French rail centers seem to have forced the Germans to abandon their plan of trying to get all yards in full working order again, and the enemy now appears to be concentrating instead on repairing only through lines.

the gas descended through ventilators into two subway stations. Hundreds of passengers were made ill and fled to the streets where they, too, were overcome, falling to the sidewalks.

Rescue efforts began within a few minutes after the gas first was detected.

More than a score of ambulances were dispatched to the scene along with police and fire units. A police detail visited every home in the area seeking possible victims.

Thirty-three doctors, 42 nurses and 16 Red Cross nurses' aids administered emergency treatment at the scene. A detachment of gas-masked soldiers also aided.

The gas came from one of 20 tanks on the truck, operated by John G. Golliver, 45, of Brooklyn, who told police he detected fumes and stopped the vehicle. Discovering chlorine escaping from one cylinder, he asked a pedestrian for aid in removing the tank but was overcome.

He then called police who donned gas masks and removed the tank to the curb.

Inspector Joseph Barbuto of the fire department bureau of combustibles said he had obtained summonses against Golliver and the truck owner, Lester J. Denner, charging them with transporting chlorine through the streets without a permit.

Dinner Given At Jolley Home for Miss Jane Scott

One of the first pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Jane Scott, who will become the bride of Melville D. Hayes of Wilmington this summer, was a dinner given Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. J. W. Jolley of 202 South Seffner avenue. The table was decorated with pink candles and pink and white flowers to carry out Miss Scott's colors of various shades of pink. A gift from the hostess and one from the group was presented to the bride-elect. The hostess was assisted in serving by Miss Joan Kerns.

Guests present were Mrs. H. R. McElroy of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Welch, Miss Mary Belle Eberhardt, Miss Edith Keeler, Miss Vera Stull, Miss Mary K. Miley and Mrs. W. E. Miley.

Wednesday at noon, Miss Scott was also the honor guest at a luncheon given at Hotel Harding by Miss Mary Jo Stafford. A gift was given to her at this time. In the afternoon, members of the ninth grade glee club of Vernon Heights Junior High school presented a bridal gift at the last rehearsal of the group.

75 More Blood Donors Needed on Next Week's List

Seventy-five persons who will volunteer to give a pint of blood next Monday or Tuesday when the Red Cross blood donor unit pays its eighth visit to Marion will not only be helping to save the lives of men and women of the armed forces, but will complete the blood donor committee's list of registrants for these days. Wednesday, the third and last day of the unit's stay in Marion, has been taken over by employes of the Pollak Steel Co. and the Marion-Reserve Power Co.

Registration of 75 persons for these two days will put the blood donor committee in the "safety zone," F. F. McKinney, chairman, said today. Last minute cancellations of registrations, due to colds or other unavoidable circumstances, make it necessary to appeal for this number, he explained. The generous response to the appeal for 200 registrants made earlier this week was praised by Mr. McKinney in discussing plans for the unit's visit next week, and expresses in no small way, he said, the willingness of local citizens to help in every way possible in this much-needed service.

Volunteers are asked to register with the Red Cross office, 2439, as soon as possible in order that cards may be sent out regarding time, what to eat and other needed information. The schedule this time is for 200 donors on each of the three days. The hours for Monday and Tuesday are 12:30 to 4:45 p. m. and the place is Epworth Methodist church.

Richwood Youth Sent to Ohio Penitentiary

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, June 2—Blaine Kenneth Fulton, 20, of Richwood, was sentenced to one to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary by Common Pleas Judge Richard L. Cameron Thursday when he changed his plea to guilty to a charge of driving an automobile without the owner's consent.

Fulton decided to plead guilty yesterday afternoon after the jury had been seated and several witnesses heard. He was implicated in the theft of an automobile belonging to T. W. Munson of West Jackson in northern Union county last winter. With another youth and two girls, the automobile was abandoned early the next morning near West Liberty after the party allegedly was responsible for an accident in West Liberty.

Majority of Public and of Unions Say New Anti-Strike Law Needed

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 2—With "wildcat" strikes in war industries showing a marked increase during recent weeks, a large majority of the American people—and of the members of labor unions—think there is need for legislation to stop all strikes in wartime.

The Connally-Smith act, passed over President Roosevelt's veto last year, makes it unlawful, after a plant has been seized by the government, for any person to "coerce, instigate, induce, conspire with or encourage" any other person to strike. But the act does not make striking itself illegal.

To determine what the public thinks about the existing situation, the Institute put the following issue to a cross-section of the country, including a full complement of labor union members.

"Do you think there is a need for a law to prevent strikes in war industries?"

The vote is:

Yes	70%
No	15
No Opinion	15

The vote of labor union members included in the cross-section is given below. The interviewing in the survey was completed before the members of Local 6 of the Longshoremen's Union in San Francisco, largest unit in the labor organizations controlled by Harry Bridges, adopted a resolution denouncing wartime strikes as "treason against the nation." Late last week R. J. Thomas head of the Auto Workers Union, declaring that "public opinion has become inflamed against our union," also criticized wartime work stoppages.

LABOR UNION MEMBERS

Law Needed to Prevent Strikes	64%
No Law Needed	26
No Opinion	10

The strike issue is one upon which the rank and file of both Democratic and Republican voters find themselves in almost complete agreement.

Among Democrats interviewed in the survey 67 per cent say there is need for anti-strike legislation, while Among Republicans the vote is 72 per cent.

Politics and Foreign Policy

IF THE [illegible] is to put [illegible] the collective intentions of [illegible] and desire of Republican [illegible] post-war security [illegible] must be questioned. If [illegible] presented in good faith—and that [illegible], may be accepted—it raises a false hope. Foreign policy without political backing is empty [illegible].

Announcement of steps by the government toward world security by Secretary of State Hull and the President's declaration that the United States is submitting for discussion by other governments the first draft of a plan of post-war organization for peace and security can no more be divorced from politics than the fact that Mr. Roosevelt's mandate to proceed with his policies expires this year. In the judgment of other governments, politics and foreign policy in the United States are inseparable, the relationship is implicit in the way we are organized.

Instead of shying away from the relationship and pretending it does not, or at least should not, exist, the government should aim to use it to best advantage. That is, there should be a minimum of narrow partisanship, an aim already partly satisfied by steps to assure the senate foreign relations committee of intent to keep it informed.

The aim would be further satisfied if, instead of conducting negotiations for post-war security in a vacuum of secrecy and rumor, the state department and the chief executive were to take the people into their confidence. After many months of restlessness on this score, public demand for information about foreign policy still remains unsatisfied. The people still do not know what Mr. Roosevelt has said and done in their behalf at his conferences with leaders of other governments. They are unable to define with any assurance what their government's foreign policy objectives are. The favorable popular opinion requisite to formation of a policy which can command support on a bi-partisan level is not being developed; the people lack the sense of being well informed that is the best guarantee against the growth of suspicion and mistrust.

They stand more than half-convinced at this juncture that the same administration which says it hopes to keep foreign policy out of politics intends to use foreign policy to partisan advantage in a reelection campaign—and that it is being guided as much by considerations of the effect on the electorate in its timing of the beginning of conversations with other government as by considerations of the effect on post-war security. If such suspicions are groundless, they could be allayed by measures of candor which would cut the apparent grounds from under them.

The American Potential

THE pre-invasion summary revealing that the United States has produced 171,257 planes since Pearl Harbor and is maintaining a production rate two and a-half times that of the Axis is a fair measure of this nation's war potential. It has been failure to estimate it correctly that has frustrated the plans of military aggressors twice in this century.

Even now it cannot be completely appraised; no one knows how much greater it is in planes and all other war equipment than has been realized so far. Our war production, vast as it has been, could have been greater. This country only has approached the limit of its potentialities in war, just as it only has approached, never reached, the limit of its potentialities in peace.

Leaning on Washington

JOHN M. HANCOCK who collaborated with Bernard Baruch recently on a study of post-war adjustment policies, believes this country never will get to first base in job-making after the war until it breaks its bad habit of leaning on Washington. The government cannot make employers, and the United States must have more employers, not more public money, to provide enough jobs to keep its employable population busy.

Mr. Hancock was speaking at a dinner honoring winners of the Pabst Post-War Employment Awards. The winners uniformly agreed in their essays on the subject of jobs that private enterprise is to be encouraged. Mr. Hancock pointed out that congress has responsibility for providing the atmosphere in which the country's economy again can become dynamic.

It is not pleasant to think about at this time, but if the war ended tomorrow the United States, as far as the political atmosphere which was stifling business before the war boom began is concerned, would be back where it was between 1936 and 1940. There has been much talk, but little action—and the talk has not been taken seriously by the persons it was intended to convince. Only the war boom has concealed the fact that the Roosevelt administration still is dominated by men who are skeptical, ignorant, or both, about private enterprise—men who will try to supplant private enterprise and the jobs it could make in a more favorable atmosphere with an ever-widening, ever-tightening political control.

Plans have been made for farmers living in the Iberia community to view the pasture plot on the Horace Braden farm, Tuesday, June 6, from 5:30 p. m. to dark. Farmers living in the Bradner community are urged to spend about fifteen minutes on this pasture and see alfalfa, Ladino clover, red clover, brome grass, and timothy established without plowing where last spring poor pasture existed.

There are about six animals to each square mile in the national forests of the United States.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE OF FARM BUREAU MEETS

Arrangements Made for July 17 Picnic in Garfield Park.

Business and pleasure were combined when members of the County Education Committee of Marion county Farm Bureau met Wednesday night in McKinley park for a wiener roast. Carl Bair of Columbus district organization director of the Ohio Farm Bureau was present, giving a report on the expansion of youth work in the district. Possible locations for home youth council organizations were discussed and a program for summer activities outlined.

Members reviewed the rural health problem in Marion county, basing the discussion on the number of farm boys who have been rejected for military service because of ill health or injuries. Members present at the meeting will talk over the situation with farmers in their respective groups and will later work with members of the various county committees in an effort to raise the health standard.

Plans for a countywide council picnic to be held in Garfield park on July 17 were announced and the following committee appointed in charge: Mrs. A. W. Granger, chairman, Mrs. Earl James and Mrs. E. S. Buehrmund. A basket dinner will be served at 7 p. m. followed by a recreation period.

Betty Lou Parker of LaRue, delegate to the district meeting held recently in Columbus, reported on youth problems. Mrs. Frank Helmlich of near Waldo, who attended a district meeting in Findlay recently talked on the need to further the rural health program.

ST. LOUIS TROLLEYS, BUSES STILL TIED UP

By The Associated Press

St. Louis was without transportation facilities today as striking street car operators and bus drivers remained away from their jobs, but some of the 3,500 employes were threatened with reclassification into a 1-A in the draft because of their refusal to work.

Eight St. Louis draft boards ordered immediate reclassification of some of the 3,500 strikers, whose two-day strike has affected more than a half million St. Louis residents.

St. Louisians resorted to hitchhiking, walking or bicycling because of the transportation tieup, while bus service across the Mississippi river in East St. Louis (Ill.) also was halted by an unexpected strike of bus drivers. The two walkouts, however, were not connected.

Churchill Springs New Puzzle on Spanish Attitude

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Britain's Prime Minister Churchill's unexpected pronouncement of "kindly words about Spain" is causing [illegible] not unmixed with concern, in this country.

Pro-Nazi Spain continues to give Hitler material aid with words to [illegible] Her position [illegible] with that of some [illegible] neutrals which have [illegible] to serve the German [illegible] That raises a problem [illegible] likely to get hotter before [illegible]

The average American's reaction to this issue seems to be conditioned mainly by the fact that the allies are about to undertake the greatest and most hazardous amphibious invasion of history. He is uncomfortably aware that vast numbers of the troops which will fight their way up the beaches from the sea on D-day will be our boys.

Mr. Churchill's gesture advanced the thesis that Spain had contributed to the United Nations cause, among other ways, by resisting Nazi pressure to take over Gibraltar and close the straits, and by ignoring the huge allied preparations close to the Spanish coast for the invasion of Africa. Thus Spain made backhanded amends for some of her irregularities toward the allies.

There are many reasons why Britain should want to win Spain over. Churchill named several, including the hope "that she will be a strong influence for the peace of the Mediterranean after the war." At another point he said:

"I look forward to increasingly good relations with Spain and extremely fruitful trade between Spain and this country, which I trust will grow during war and expand after peace."

Well, America wants friendship with Spain, too, but our viewpoint appears to be somewhat different. Despite Mr. Churchill's speech, President Roosevelt later expressed the opinion that Spain's shipments of supplies to Germany haven't yet been reduced enough.

It strikes me that our average citizen, in considering Spain's attitude, is likely to demand first an answer to two questions:

1. Does Spain's shipment of supplies to Germany mean loss of life to American soldiers?

2. Is it possible that these supplies will protract the conflict, thereby causing further death and destruction, and wastage of the resources of many nations?

The answers to these queries are so obviously in the affirmative they need no discussion. With these before him, the average citizen is inclined not to give a tinker's damn about anything else.

He believes the allies are powerful enough to compel Spain to recognize that it pays to be good. He thinks we have the right to do that.

JAPS AIM NEW BLOW AT CHINA

Tokyo Masses 280,000 Men To Pry Chinese from Railway Line.

By The Associated Press

The Japanese have concentrated 280,000 troops to pry the Chinese loose from the Hankow-Canton railroad and to clear the way for new blows elsewhere in China a Chungking military spokesman said today.

In manifest alarm over Japan's widespread offensive in north-central and south China, Maj. Gen. C. C. Tseng said the enemy has embarked on a new strategy. "As the allies apply greater pressure against Japan, Japan will exert greater pressure against China."

Greater pressure against Japan seemed imminent in the central Pacific, on the strength of a three-day aerial offensive which took U. S. fliers to the Kuriles north of Japan, to Wake, Guam and the string of Caroline islands including Ponape and Truk.

Such far-reaching raids might be the forerunners of a new flat-top borne offensive in the central Pacific, the intent being to immobilize enemy bases adjacent to the principal target. This strategy was followed in preparation for the Marshalls invasion last January.

Big Battle Brewing

A big battle was brewing along the Hankow-Canton line for possession of strategic Changsha in southeast China. The British radio broadcast a report Japanese forces were 12 miles from the city, which has been cleared of non-combatant civilians in preparation for battle.

Tseng said 210,000 Japanese were concentrated near Hankow, 200 miles north of Changsha, while 70,000 were poised at Canton at the southern end of the railroad. Speaking of possible new enemy drives, he said the Japanese were massed on the Indo-China-Yunnan border and were constructing a big airbase near the frontier. Such concentrations would pose a threat to Kunming, major U. S. airbase on the Burma road.

In the Honan province fighting to the northwest Chinese recaptured Sunghsien, 45 miles south of Loyang. The Japanese struck west toward Tungkwan, gateway city to China's northwest. A fierce struggle was underway 35 miles east of there.

U. S. Attacks Peiping

Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's headquarters confirmed a Japanese statement U. S. planes had attacked Peiping, China's ancient capital which is far northeast of the present fighting.

American Mustangs swept over 600 miles of the Hankow-Peiping railroad Tuesday, destroying or damaging 22 locomotives. The line supplies the Honan offensive.

In the Burma road battle, Chinese and American troops scored new gains in the drive to capture Myitkyina and Chinese troops occupied more villages in their drive west to join the Burma allied forces.

American reinforcements poured into the Biak island beachhead, gathering strength for a renewed assault to capture the island's three airdromes, which are within striking distance of the Philippines.

SGT. FETTER A BUSY MAN

STAFF SGT. EUGENE F. FETTER, former Marion St. Mary coach, isn't neglecting sports activities while in the employ of Uncle Sam. He's maintaining his usual keen edge as an athlete and coach as physical education supervisor of Thomasville Air Base, Ga.

Only a part of Sgt. Fetter's average day at the base is devoted to instructing air cadets in swimming, boxing, judo, combatives and hand to hand fighting. These come in the "line of duty" as physical director. He also finds time to supervise play of nine softball teams and coach the Thomasville Air Base baseball team of the South Georgia Service league.

This spring, Fetter consumed much of his spare time in serving as assistant coach of the Thomasville High school football team in spring practice.

These are the coaching and supervisory activities of Sgt. Fetter. He's also been on the go himself in sports requiring individual skills. He recently entered in the Glen Arven, Ga., country club golf tournament. He registered one of the high scores in a physical fitness test conducted recently at the base. This test included sit ups, chin ups and a shuttle race of 300 yards. Last January, Fetter was selected the outstanding official of the Southern Georgia Football Officials association for the 1943 campaign.

Fetter was football and basketball coach of the St. Mary Irish for several months during the 1942 season. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Fetter of 169 Carhart street. He's a brother of Capt. Thomas C. Fetter, Marion soldier stationed overseas.

GOOD OMEN FOR SOFTBALL

IT was a sort of a good omen for Marion softball when it was formally announced that the Sunday School league would be running this year after considerable trouble in pre-season arrangements. Ray Donaugh's Greenwood team finally came across with is entry to boost to four the number of outfits entered in the church circuit.

8th Inning Rally Beats Marion 7-6

(Special to The Star)

ZANESVILLE, O., JUNE 2—A three run uprising in the eighth inning gave Zanesville Dodgers a 7 to 6 Ohio State league decision over Marion before 342 spectators here tonight with a single by Steve Lembo and a two base error charged against Catcher Jimmy Hanson providing the margin of victory.

Marion jumped into a three run first inning lead as Bill Mornewag walked advanced on Ed. Labanara's single to left, but was forced by Virl Minnis at third. Boo McDonald then drove in Labanara and Minnis with a triple into the right field corner, and he hit the plate a few seconds later as Bill Broukal doubled to the same spot.

After giving up two runs in the second, the Cubs came back for a pair in the third on McDonald's double, an infield error and Ivan Funk's outfield fly. Zanesville got two more in the sixth on three hits, a sacrifice and a walk. Marion scored in the top of the seventh when Broukal drove in McDonald, who reached first on a fielder's choice.

The big eighth for Zanesville was launched by Mikesell who singled through the box. After Lemon went out on strikes Eder bit to advance Mikesell, was forced by Bishop. Mikesell and Bishop then worked a double steal Mikesell scoring and Bishop going to second. Lemon then singled in Bishop, took second on the play at the plate, and when Hansen tried to cut down the runner at second Lemon completed the circle as the ball rolled into center field.

Bill Bailey who relieved Dick Pace in the sixth, was charged with the loss as he gave up five safeties through the last three chapters. Pace, a speedball artist would have escaped damage except for his wildness. Bernie Fiest, who went the route for the Dodgers, turned in his third win.

Nenoff Takes Honors at Wrestling Show

A battle royal was on the schedule at wrestling matches held last night at the Armory on West Church street. Gil LaCross was put out in five minutes. Next came "Levy, the Blimp," 625 pounder, who lasted six minutes. Gorilla Pogi left next, having been in the battle seven minutes. Tex Riley was the next to go in nine minutes. Victors in the battle were Steve Nenoff and Irish McGee, who were paired in a two-hour main go.

McGee was disqualified by the referee in the first 15 minutes for stepping on Nenoff's throat and the first fall went to Nenoff. Nenoff took the second fall in seven minutes with a body slam and press.

Pogi and Riley met in a 45-minute semi-final. Pogi put Riley down in nine minutes with a half crab hold. The second fall was taken by Riley, who floored the Gorilla with an Irish pretzel hold in 12 minutes. The match was a draw, the remaining time being fought without a fall for either man.

Pitching Wildness Costs Tribe Game with Boston Sox

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 2—Failure to plate the plate and the resultant issuance of bases on balls has troubled Cleveland hurlers in their last two games.

One of the factors in yesterday's 7 to 6 defeat by the Boston Red Sox was the "wildness" of Hal Kleine, the rookie southpaw who started on the mound and walked the first four batters he faced. Ray Poat was rushed to Kleine's rescue but before he could retire the side all four passes were turned into runs.

Cleveland overcame Boston's early lead yesterday with two three-run uprisings in the fourth and fifth but lost in the ninth when George Metkovich lifted a home run over the right field screen after Skeeter Newsome had walked and pinch-hitter Joe Bowman had singled.

But for that last inning wallop by Metkovich, Poat contributed a brilliant relief performance. He allowed only four hits until two were out in the ninth and issued no bases on balls until he passed Newsome.

The defeat dropped the Indians back into seventh place. Tonight they engage the New York Yankees at the stadium before what is expected to be the largest crowd of the local season. Paul Calvert will hurl for the Tribe against the Yankee ace, Hank Borowy.

TWO LEAGUE GAMES HALTED BY RAIN

The weatherman held sway in two games of the Ohio State league which were scheduled for last night. Lima was to have entertained Middletown, last night but rain intervened, and a game between Springfield and Newark at Newark was called in the middle of the fourth inning on account of rain with Newark leading, 1 to 0.

Only changes in standings took place in the lower bracket. Zanesville rose to fourth place, four games behind the leading Newark players, and Springfield dropped to fifth place, four and a half games behind. Marion slipped back half a game and remained in last place with seven games between them and top spot.

Colonels Win 13 of 16 Games on Home Grounds

By The Associated Press

Fortunately for the rest of the league, the Louisville Colonels' two-week home stand was ended today. Judging by their success before local customers recently, Manager Nemo Leibold's lads would climb right through the top of the American association were they permitted a couple more weeks of cavorting in their own Kentucky pastures.

In their last 16 contests at home the Colonels came through with 13 victories, jumping from seventh place to third, just three games back of the Columbus Redbirds, who trail league-leading Milwaukee by four.

Last night the Kentuckians poured it on Indianapolis, 16-5, to sweep a four-game series.

Milwaukee maintained its margin over Columbus, pounding three Kansas City hurlers for 24 hits and a 19-4 victory while the Redbirds were downing Toledo, 7 to 5. The Minneapolis-St. Paul game was postponed because of rain.

Detroit's clean sweep of the Yankee series put them only one game and a half away with Philadelphia and Washington another length back.

Steve O'Neill repeated with Paul Trout and Hal Newhouser in relief roles to shade the New Yorkers, lefty Hal getting credit for his eighth win and third over the Yanks. Don Ross' double off reliefer Atley Donald was the telling blow.

Stan Spence slammed six hits in six times at bat to tie the modern record that teammate George Myatt and 23 other gents hold as Washington routed four Brownie hurlers with 20 blows.

George Metkovich banged a three-run homer in the ninth to assure Boston a 7-6 victory over Cleveland. Boston scored four in the first, but the Tribe had rallied for a two-run edge with two out in the last frame when Metkovich hit for all four.

Johnny Barrett was the whole show as Pittsburgh topped Brooklyn 2-1 for Rip Sewell's seventh triumph. Barrett's eighth-inning round tripper won the game and his catch of Luis Olmo's long drive in the ninth saved it. Babe Dahlgren also touched Curt Davis for a homer, although Davis gave but four hits.

GLIMPSES OF STATE LEAGUERS

SOME side glimpses of Ohio State league baseballers. An American Legion baseball product is Harvey Zernia, slugging 18-year old first baseman of the Lima Red Birds of the State league. He played with a legion team in Milwaukee. He's always been a good hitter but has experienced no slight difficulty in perfecting his defensive game. Harvey just turned 18 Wednesday. He played second base in American Legion ball but was first switched to the outfield, then to first base, by "Runt" Marr, Lima manager.

Owen Friend, consistent batting Newark second baseman, comes as close to being a former big leaguer as any of the young aspiring Ohio State league ball players. Friend worked out with the St. Louis Browns some last summer although his name didn't appear on the roster. Friend's home is in Granite City, Ill., which is just across the Mississippi river from St. Louis. Last year, when the Browns were at home Friend would get out his glove and navigate across the stream to work out with Luke Sewell's club. The Brownies thought Friend had something and gave him many useful pointers on hitting and fielding.

Friend is one of the State league's best percentage hitters. For a spell, he was right up there among the top swatters. He became 17 March 21. He got early experience with independent teams in the St. Louis area and was also active on the basketball court. He's on option from the Toledo Mudhens of the American association.

Piles Are Never 'Mild'
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.
Removal of piles is the only permanent relief. This can be done without knife, drugs or loss of time from work.

STOCK TREND STILL UPWARD

Tone Is Favorable Although Price Range Turns Irregular

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 2 — The course was predominantly upward in today's stock market with assorted specialties rising into new high ground for the year or longer.

Amusements and low-priced motors accounted for the greater part of the activity. Pressure of idle investment funds still prevailed the main front reep. Earnings and dividends spurred individual issues.

Ahead most of the time were Paramount Pictures, Warner Bros., Twentieth Century-Fox, Loew's, Willys-Overland, Chrysler, General Motors, Du Pont, Standard Oil (NJ), Santa Fe and Southern Pacific. Easier were Texas Co., Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Rubber, Youngstown Sheet and General Electric.

WHEAT GOES LOWER IN QUIET TRADING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 2—All wheat futures were lower in quiet trading today with the deferred contracts showing the greatest declines. The weak undertone was attributed to ideal weather for both the spring and winter crops and to indications there would not be a great demand for flour during the next 30 days.

Though the volume of selling was not heavy, rye prices were well below the previous close. Bearish sentiment was the result of favorable crop conditions, large increases in corn bookings and a weakness in rye at Winnipeg, where the July broke sharply near the close of trading.

Signal Corps To Bring Battle News to Radio

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 2—For invasion broadcasting, which is to have the right of way over everything else, the networks expect to have available augmented short wave circuits linking London and New York.

New facilities, operated by the U. S. Army Signal Corps overseas, have just been put through dress rehearsals preparatory to round-the-clock service. All networks are to share in their use, either collectively or individually. Transmissions are to include immediate break-ins and various direct and indirect pickups of battle activity, with sound effects where possible.

Debate on issues of the 1944 presidential campaign is to bring Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, Republican presidential aspirant, and Gov. J. Melville Broughton of North Carolina, Democrat, to the microphone of People's Platform on June 10, CBS announces.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'LL NEED a whole hour for tomorrow morning," I told my anxious son. "I'll have a few extra things to do.

"I know you," Katie chided me roguishly. "You had you all yourself breakfast like you do now every morning during war time. But tomorrow morning's not such. Me, I set the alarm clock, and ven you get downstairs, you have nice breakfast all ready for you."

Protest Useless

"Thank you, Katie," I said, knowing there was not the slightest use in protesting to her unless I wished to hurt her feelings. "I shall be very glad to eat one of your breakfasts before I leave."

"But," I told the boys, "before breakfast, I want to be called at five-thirty. This isn't an ordinary journey, and I want plenty of time to prepare for it.

"And now, Jim and Katie," I said, "I'm going to say good-night to you both."

"Good-night," they echoed, and departed. Jim carrying his and gun a bit gingerly. Then I looked at the boys.

"You're on your own now," I told them. "I leave the house in your hands. Arrange it between yourselves about the watches. Only don't forget to waken me at half after five. I'll say good-night now, although I shan't go to bed for a little while. I want to see Granzie, and then I shall have to talk to Uncle Hugh for a few minutes."

Can't Go Alone

"But," Junior expostulated, "you can't go crawling through that dark attic to the chimney alone with only a flashlight, and you said you didn't want any light to show up there. One of us will have to go up with you as far as the chimney stone, wait there for you, and then bring you down again."

"All right," I capitulated. "Settle it between yourselves as to which one comes up with me, and which stays down here. I'll say good night to both of you now, and go up to Granzie. The boy who is to escort me upstairs will please be waiting in the upper hall in about two minutes—and keep on waiting until I am ready to go to the secret room."

I tried to make my smile as merry as the good-night hugs I gave them were fervent. Then with their loving "good-nights" ringing in my ears, I went upstairs, conscious as I neared the nursery that I was still carrying the army revolver which Hugh had handed to me when I left the secret chamber earlier in the evening.

I knocked softly upon the nursery door, and when Mother Graham unlocked and opened it, I beckoned her outside, whispering: "Bring the key."

Removes Key

She took it from the lock, and followed me out into the hall.

"Faith is asleep?" I whispered, holding out my hand for the key. As she nodded assent, I locked the door, and slipped my arm through hers.

"Let's go into my room," I whispered, "It's nearer the nursery, and we'll hear Faith if she wakens."

She followed me without question, and when we were closeted in my room, I told her the things that had happened since she had mounted guard over Faith.

"And now," I finished, "the men have gone, and I am sure they will not be back again. Jim and Katie have gone up to bed. Junior and Roderick are going to take turns sleeping and watching the house until morning. Just now, one of them is going to escort me through the attic with a flashlight and back again, for I must see Hugh before I go to New York in the morning, and I don't want to leave any detail until morning that I can clear up tonight."

Will Be on Hand

"You're right, of course," she said. "And I'll stay right here until you come down. Then I'll be on hand if Faith wakens."

That will be fine," I told her, knowing it would be useless to suggest her accepting the really unnecessary task with one of the boys, and then adding quickly: "I'm sure I won't if you don't mind."

"I'll be right here when you come down again," she said, adding eagerly: "Perhaps you'll have something nice to tell me."

"I doubt it," I told her. "Probably you'll have message for my father, but I promise you I'll tell you anything there is to tell."

"I'll be waiting for it," she said with crooning eyes, and then I went into the hall, finding Roderick waiting. He went with me to the attic, guided me through it with the flashlight, and opened the chimney stone for me. Then he hesitated.

"I suppose I'll wait here for you," he said with a wistful note in his voice.

"No," I told him with sudden resolution. "You will go to bed. I may with me."

Hearing Loss

THE ADJUSTMENT to wards the post-war planners must consider are only partly medical. To a trial, I should say as a rough estimate that at least a third of the planning will have to consider medical problems. Some of these are plain for all to see and consider—the cripples, the blind, the paralyzed, were among the veterans of combat. Numerically they would hardly justify my estimate of a third of all post-war problems being medical.

But there is another, less obvious and much more numerous group of medical liabilities who will come out of the war. They are in both combat and civilian groups. They may not realize for a long time what the war has done to them. But still subtly and perhaps to them unaccountably it will have changed their whole lives.

As an example of this is a report I have before me by Lieut. (J. G.) J. C. Howard, M. D. on tests of hearing made on men who have seen combat service. It is by no means a cheerful account. America has an excellent chance of being in part a hard-of-hearing America, because of accoustic trauma. It applies to those who have gone to work in war industry as well as to those in the armed forces. And it thus hits particularly the young adult between the ages of 18 and 35 who in the past has been particularly free of auditory difficulties.

Damage to hearing from the assaults of noise has in the past been identified by the medical profession with certain trades—such as boiler makers, riveters, blasters and those make up only a fractional part of the population.

The damage to hearing in this group is mainly in the higher frequencies, starting above 2,000, which means deafness for high tones, but in the course of time tails spreads fanwise on the chart until it reaches the level of conversational ranges.

World War I had little effect on the hearing of the members of the armed forces. It was short and comparatively not so very noisy. The English, French and German troops showed a good deal more loss than ours. This war has increased the pace of mechanical warfare and with it noise. Besides, altitude flying adds its burden as well as the barometric pressure of submarine existence.

Studies in the hearing acuity of the personnel of airplane and submarine services show that the amount of damage depends on the ability of the individual's hearing apparatus to stand pressure, the amount of exposure, and, best lesson of all, the amount of rest between periods of duty. The use of protective devices is also a factor.

"Trap shooters's ear" has been so designated by sportsmen familiar with the situation. The trapshooter is hard of hearing in the ear that is next to the gun. The same phenomenon is found in machine gunners and those using the ordinary army rifle. The gun crews get it in both ears. In the navy, they say you see the gunners at the discharge of a big gun holding their mouths open, this is plain nonsense, based on experience even in the result of instruction in protection. It emphasizes the pressure of the middle ear from the Eustachian tube.

The percentage are of question for [illegible] national [illegible] hearing apparatus [illegible]

[illegible] of diminished hearing and such there causes is gradual and often unrealized by the individual. Jack Howard found on examination men picked by chance, but because they complained of loss of hearing that is from the army was diagnosed for frequencies above 4,000 (cycles) and seldom got to and that it was complicated for the low tones (whispered voice).

The radio, movie and television world may well take these findings into account. The high tones—screams and the like—will be lost on many of the post-war population.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. J. K.—My little boy is three years old, and weighs 35 pounds, 32 inches tall. Do you think he is too thin? I have been buying certified milk for him, and because it is raw milk, have been boiling it. Do you think this is necessary?

Answer: Average height and weight at three years is 36-38 inches and 29½ to 31½ pounds.

Certified milk need not be boiled for a three-year-old: he is over the most dangerous age for milk infection.
